

SWIMMING

THE Swimming events of the Games of the Xth Olympiad provided many of the most thrilling performances of the competitions. Contested in a magnificent new pool, approved as ideal by the International Swimming Federation, the events drew capacity audiences and Olympic records were shattered in practically every event. The 100 Metre Back Stroke for men was the only previous Olympic mark not surpassed.

Without doubt the performance of the swimmers from Japan was the outstanding feature of the competition for men. Japanese entrants won every race but one and their performance was remarkable for the high standing attained by all members of the team. With three swimmers eligible for each event, only one Japanese entrant failed to reach the final and thus finish in the first six.

In the 100 Metre Free-style the Japanese order of finish was 1, 2, and 5; in the 100 Metre Back Stroke it was 1, 2, and 3; in the 200 Metre Breast Stroke it was 1, 2, and 6; in the 400 Metre Free-style it was 3, 4, and 5; and in the 1500 Metre Free-style it was 1 and 2, with the third entrant not qualifying for the Final although in the Semi-final heat he swam faster than the sixth placed finalist. In the Relay the Japanese team finished first.

CROWDED STANDS DURING COMPETITIONS
OLYMPIC STADIUM IN THE BACKGROUND

The only other first place in the men's events was won by the United States, and in this case, the 400 Metres, Crabbe, United States, and Taxis, France, finished so close that the judges had difficulty in naming the winner.

The United States was outstanding in the Diving events for both men and women, capturing the first three places in the two events for men and the first three places in the two events for women, thereby establishing their superiority in the Diving as completely as the Japanese men did in the Swimming races.

In the Women's races the Americans won four of the five events, Clare Dennis of Australia capturing the only first that did not go to the United States. The performance of the American women very closely approximated that of the Japanese men, as in only one race did they fail to qualify all three entrants for the Finals. It should be noted, however, that they would have failed to qualify one of their swimmers in the Breast Stroke Finals except for the fact that permission was given to start seven swimmers instead of the customary six.

Australian girls did very well with one first place and one second, while Holland took two second places. Other places were divided among several nations.

It is of interest to note the manner in which previous Olympic marks were broken. Two Japanese swimmers broke the 100 Metre Free-style record but the real shattering of marks started with the 200 M. Breast Stroke. In this race the best previous Olympic mark was broken nine times, by swimmers from Japan, the Philippines, and Germany.

A VAST AUDIENCE WATCHES A FREE-STYLE RACE

The 400 Metre Free-style record was broken oftener by more different individuals than any other record in the Games. Three Japanese swimmers, two Americans, two Australians, and a Frenchman took turns in lowering this mark, several of them on three different occasions, with the result that the existing Olympic record was broken eighteen different times, in itself a record and a very remarkable one.

GROTESQUE ACTION AT THE START OF A HEAT IN THE 100 METRE FREE-STYLE FOR WOMEN

Two Japanese, two Americans, and an Australian took turns in lowering the 1500 Metre mark and in the 800 Metre Relay the three first teams to finish all broke the existing record, the winning Japanese team lowering it by the startling margin of 38 seconds, or almost ten seconds per man.

Defending champions in the Swimming events were scarce. Of those who did return, to attempt a repetition of their victories of 1928, only one was successful. This does not refer to team events, where the same countries usually participate with different individuals on their teams, but even in the team events the defending champions had trouble. Germany, which had defeated Hungary for the Water Polo title in 1928, lost to Hungary in 1932. In the 4 x 200 Metre Relay for men, the United States, which had won in 1928 by defeating Japan, saw the situation reversed in 1932. The American women alone succeeded in retaining the team championship they had won in the 4 x 100 Metre Relay at Amsterdam in 1928. One member of this team, Eleanor Garatti Saville, swam both in 1928 and in 1932.

The successful defending champion was Yoshiyuki Tsuruta of Japan, in the 200 Metre Breast Stroke. Strangely enough, three of the first six placed in the Final at Los Angeles, namely, Tsuruta of Japan, first, Teofilo Yldefonzo of the Philippines, third, and Erwin Sietas of Germany, fourth.

The only other defending champion to participate was Maria Johanna Philipsen-Braun of Holland, who won her preliminary heat in the 100 Metre Back Stroke, but was taken ill and was unable to compete in the Final.

In the 100 Metre Free-style, Stephen Bárány of Hungary, who placed second in 1928, reached the Semi-final at Los Angeles. In the 100 Metre Back Stroke, Toshio Irie of Japan, who was fourth at Amsterdam, won second place.

SWIMMING STADIUM

In the 400 Metre Free-style, Clarence Crabbe of the United States, who placed fourth at Amsterdam, won the championship, and Andrew Charlton of Australia, winner of second place at Amsterdam, placed sixth, although he swam 5 seconds faster than he did in 1928. Crabbe, who won third place in the 1500 Metres in 1928, finished fifth in the same event at Los Angeles. In the Diving events, Galitzen of the United States, second in the Springboard Diving and third in the High Diving at Amsterdam, took first and second places in these same two events at Los Angeles.

Among the women contestants, only two who finished in the first six in any races at Amsterdam were able to place again at Los Angeles. These were Joyce Cooper of Great Britain, third in the 100 Metre Back Stroke in 1928 and sixth in the same event at Los Angeles, and Else Jacobsen of Denmark, fourth in the 200 Metres Breast Stroke in 1928 and third in the same event at Los Angeles.

In the Diving events, Georgia Coleman of the United States, third in the Springboard and second in the High Diving at Amsterdam, won the Springboard Diving and was again second in High Diving at Los Angeles. Dorothy Poynton of the United States, second in Springboard Diving at Amsterdam, won the High Diving Championship at Los Angeles. Ingeborg Maria Sjöquist of Sweden, third in High Diving in 1928, was fourth in the same event in 1932.

GYMNASTICS

THE Gymnastic competition of the Games of the Xth Olympiad brought together a talented and well matched group of contestants. Teams from Italy, Finland, Hungary, Japan, and the United States participated, as did individuals from Switzerland and Mexico.

For the first time in the history of the Olympic Games, individual competition was held in all apparatus events, and also in Tumbling, Rope Climbing, and

JUDGES WORKING ON THE SCORES

SOKOLS PERFORM IN THE DEMONSTRATION

Horizontal Bar, Parallel Bars, Pommel Horse, Rings, and Vaulting Horse proved to be very popular with contestants and officials.

In such special events as Rope Climbing and Tumbling, the visiting countries were not represented by specialists. The United States contestants in these events were of unusually high calibre and outclassed the few European gymnasts who entered, the latter being really all-round men who participated in these specialties largely for the experience.

One week before the start of competition, all members of the International Gymnastic Federation, officials, and one leading gymnast from each country gathered at a meeting for a demonstration of the compulsory team exercises on Club Swinging. The contests in both team and individual events were very close and of high quality, and despite the element of personal opinion which enters into the judging of gymnastic performance, all concerned were entirely satisfied with the decisions of the officials.

The scoring for team competition was separate from the scoring for individual events, and the innovation of individual competition on the each apparatus. Any differences in the interpretation of the exercises were taken up at this time and settled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Italy, Finland, Hungary, and the United States entered full teams of experienced gymnasts, and the team and individual competition found these countries outstanding. Japan and Mexico, newcomers in this sport in the Olympic Games, made astonishingly fine showings considering their lack of experience, and will no doubt rate much higher in the final standings at future Games.

Italy, with Romeo Neri, who proved himself without question the outstanding gymnast, and a splendid group of other performers, was the leading country in both individual and team competition. The United States showed the steady improvement that has resulted from years of Olympic participation, by capturing second place in the team championship and performing well in all the apparatus work. Pelle of Hungary and Savolainen of Finland were outstanding in the competitions and only overshadowed by the fine performance of the Italian champion.

One of the most unusual events of the Games was the demonstration of Gymnastics held in the Stadium on the evening of August 10. A large number of spectators watched the work of the men and women athletes demonstrating varieties of gymnastic activity. Local groups composed of Czecho-Slav and Jugo-Slav Sokols, members of the Turnverein Germania, and Mexican and Japanese gymnasts, all took the field in turn and fascinated the audience by the perfection of their performances. The Sokols went through typical exercises to music, the Turnverein staged individual and group exercises, the Mexicans allegorical exercises and dances, with their performers beautifully costumed as Montezuma's warriors, and the Japanese gave demonstrations of their native athletic activities including fencing with bamboo sticks and jiu-jitsu wrestling. Approximately one thousand athletes participated in this demonstration.

All competitions were held in Olympic Stadium.

Individual Events

Maximum Number of Entrants 3 per Nation for Each Event
 (Without Substitutes)

Team Events

One Team of 5 from Each Country, who participate in all events.

In the final calculation of points, the scores of the 4 best competitors are considered. The score of the gymnast receiving the fewest points does not figure in the team competition, but his score counts in the Individual All-round classification.

The gymnastic team contests comprise a single competition at the different apparatuses, one voluntary exercise and one compulsory exercise, and on the long horse, two voluntary exercises and two compulsory exercises, which are scored as follows:

- (a) By Teams.
- (b) Individual All-round classification through the scores made at each apparatus and at the long horse.
- (c) Individual classification for the preliminary free-handed exercise.

Entrants and Participants

Out of 51 original entries, representing 7 countries, 46 contestants competed in the Gymnastic events.

BOXING

THE Xth Olympiad Boxing competitions drew a total of almost one hundred entrants, from eighteen different countries. An idea of the wide diversity of talent in this sport can be gathered from the fact that twelve different nations were represented among the winners of first, second, and third prizes in the eight weight categories.

All the Boxing competitions were held in the Olympic Auditorium. A large number of spectators attended regularly and greeted the contestants enthusiastically. There were no disputes of consequence over decisions and the spirit of good sportsmanship prevailed. This was true despite the narrow margin of superiority in the majority of the contests.

In Boxing, as in several other sports on the programme, the spectators found some difficulty in adjusting their viewpoint to the special code of rules used in the Olympic Games. This was particularly true in respect to the Olympic rule which does not permit of a draw decision, and naturally, in many cases, the judges appeared to be splitting hairs in order to name a winner. The Olympic innovation of having the referee in the ring was very satisfactory and helpful to the audiences.

In victories, South Africa, Argentine, and the United States each won two championships, and Canada and Hungary each took one title. Although Germany won no championships, three Germans reached the Finals, and Italy likewise had two finalists while Argentine, Sweden, and Mexico each had one.

The United States took three third places, South Africa, Sweden, Philippines, Finland, and Denmark each capturing one.

The excitement on the night of the Finals was intense, as Germany and Argentine each had three representatives in the final bouts, and the United States, Italy, and South Africa each had two. While the throng which packed the Auditorium was delighted by the two American victories, the performance of the athletes of the other countries was greeted with equal enthusiasm.

ROWING

THE Rowing events of the Games of the Xth Olympiad were staged on the specially constructed Olympic course at the Marine Stadium in Long Beach. Here a two thousand metre stretch of quiet sea water was lined with sloping sandy shores, on which thousands of spectators could sit and enjoy the competition as the oarsmen swept by, only a few yards distant.

The Rowing contests attracted sufficient entries in each event to provide the finest kind of competition. The width of the course, permitting four crews to race abreast, eliminated unnecessary heats, with the result that the oarsmen entered the Finals at the peak of their form.

With victories in the Double Sculls, the Two Oar with Coxswain, and the Eights, the United States won a major portion of the victories, while Great Britain, with victories in the Two Oar without Coxswain and the Four without Coxswain, took home two championships. The other countries winning were Australia in the Single Sculls and Germany in the Four with Coxswain.

In the Single Sculls event Robert Pearce of Australia, winner of the Olympic title in 1928, defended his championship and won again without apparent difficulty. Powerful in physique and a master of rowing form, Pearce dominated the event and was never headed. The greatest disappointment of the Rowing competition was the illness of Herbert Buhtz, the young German sculler, which prevented him from participating in his favorite event, the Single Sculls.

Although all the competition was spirited, the Eight Oar championship, the climax of the regatta, unquestionably was the high light in popular interest, bringing together as it did the great crews representing Italy, Canada, Great Britain, and the United States. Italy and the United States won their heats by narrow margins in splendid time and were generally considered the favorites to win, although the British and Canadian crews had shown remarkable form.

AUSTRALIAN AND URUGUAYAN OARSMEN
TALK IT OVER

The prospect of a Titanic contest between these four fine crews attracted an immense throng on the final day and the race in every way came up to expectations. The Italian crew, rowing a very high stroke, took the lead at the start, with the other crews following closely, but as the race progressed the American crew gradually made up distance lost at the start and won by the margin of a few feet.

The finish was so close that only those exactly on the line knew which crew was victorious, and the Canadian and British Eights were so close that no open water at any time showed between the four shells, the total difference between the four crews being less than a length. It furnished a magnificent climax to a great regatta.

A fine feature of the Rowing competition was the manner in which all contests were held exactly on schedule time.

EQUESTRIAN SPORTS

PARTICIPATION in the Equestrian competition in the Games of the Xth Olympiad presented difficulties to the majority of the Olympic nations by reason of the great distances to Los Angeles. In addition to the expense involved, there was presented the hazard of travel by sea or land — in some cases both — to the valuable mounts. As it turned out, however, the horses all stood the trip exceedingly well and their participation was not noticeably affected by their long journeys.

Six nations in all were represented in the Equestrian competition, the United States and Sweden each entering full teams of three in each of the three events. Mexico also participated in three events but not with a full team. Japan entered in two events and France and Holland each in one. There were not less than four countries or ten horses entered in any of the competitions in this sport.

The Riviera Country Club was the equestrian center during the Games. All foreign horses were comfortably stabled there in fireproof concrete stalls. A conveniently located railroad siding permitted the horses to be unloaded within a half-mile of their stables, and thus transshipment by truck was avoided. The Organizing Committee furnished transportation for baggage from the detraining point to the stables, and from the latter back to the entraining point, located at the same siding.

In the grounds of the Riviera Country Club were provided Dressage arenas and a practice jumping field fitted with obstacles.

The Dressage Competition was staged on a polo field of the Club, under model conditions and before a very large number of appreciative and considerate spectators. Taine, ridden by Commandant Lesage of France, won the individual competition with a brilliant performance, while the other French entries demonstrated their fitness to be his teammates by capturing the team title.

The Three Day event started with the Training Test, held in the Dressage arena at the Club. The performances were generally excellent.

The Endurance Test, on the second day, took the competitors over a 22½-mile course, including fifty obstacles.

The fact that there was no steeplechase course in Los Angeles or its vicinity necessitated the construction of such a course for the Endurance Test. All Equestrian Federations were duly notified that a steeplechase course would have to be built conforming to the specifications of the National Hunt and Steeplechase Association. The Riviera grounds, though limited in area, offered the only available place in the entire Los Angeles district where a steeplechase course could be built and tied in with the preceding and succeeding phases of the Endurance Test. The limited area necessitated shorter turns than those ordinarily found on a race course, and some portions of the track were dirt. The unsodded portions were very carefully prepared, however, and the footing was satisfactory.

The undesirable features of the course were largely offset by its location, which permitted the start of the Endurance Test to be within three hundred yards of the stables, thus eliminating the hazardous and inconvenient trucking of horses to the start. The entire course was most carefully flagged and policed; no contestant lost his way or was interfered with in the slightest on his approach to the obstacles.

The cross-country course was located near Inglewood, over ideal terrain and thirty-four typically American fences.

The Jumping Test, on the third day, was held in Olympic Stadium. There were obstacles of height and of width, with short turns, necessitating a good swinging gallop throughout in order to finish without a time penalty. Marcroix, ridden by Lieutenant Pahud de Mortanges of Holland, was returned the winner, with a total penalty score over the three days of 186 points. This same horse and rider won the Three Day Event in the 1928 Olympiad, a feat worthy of note, as no Olympic equine champion has ever before repeated. The team title went to the United States, with Holland in second place.

The Prix des Nations took place in Olympic Stadium in the presence of 100,000 people, certainly the largest, as well as the most sympathetic, attendance ever gathered at such an event in America. The course included eighteen obstacles, requiring twenty jumps, varying in height from 4 feet, 3 inches, to 5 feet, 3 inches, and in spread up to 16 feet, 5 inches. Uranus, ridden by Lieutenant Baron Nishi of Japan, won, with a total penalty score of 8 points. No team title was awarded because no complete team of three horses completed the course.

SHOOTING

HERE had been no Shooting events at the Games of the IXth Olympiad, except in the Modern Pentathlon competition. Shooting was restored to the Olympic programme on condition that all countries abide by the Olympic principles of amateurism in this sport as in all others.

The Shooting competitions at Los Angeles were confined to Automatic Pistol or Revolver shooting at twenty-five metres and Miniature 22-calibre Rifle shooting at fifty metres.

As no regularly appointed officials of the International Federation governing Shooting could be present, it was necessary to have the contests conducted under the supervision of affiliated groups in the United States to whom the necessary authority was delegated by the International Federation.

The Pistol and Revolver event required each contestant to fire three series of six shots at six silhouettes which appeared for a total of eight seconds, one shot to be fired at each of the silhouettes in turn. Twelve of the eighteen contestants in this event made perfect scores of eighteen hits.

On the next round of six shots at the silhouettes, with the time limit reduced to six seconds, one man was eliminated. On the third round the time was reduced to four seconds, or half the original time limit, and six of the remaining eleven contestants still had perfect scores. This number was cut in half when the time limit was reduced to three seconds. In the final shoot-off for first, second, and third places, when only two seconds were allowed, Renzo Morigi of Italy had a perfect score of six hits, winning first place, while Heinrich Hax of Germany, with four hits, took second honors, and Domenico Matteucci of Italy scored three hits for third.

The Rifle event consisted of a total of thirty shots, in six series of five shots each, at a target twenty centimetres in diameter with a bullseye only two centimetres in diameter. Telescopic sights on the rifles were not permitted. A total of twenty-six contestants from nine countries participated in the Rifle contests.

The accuracy of the shooting was outstanding. At the end of the competition, two contestants had each scored 294 out of a possible 300 points, two more had scored 293 each, and four more had scored 292 each. In the final shoot-off, first place went to Rönmark of Sweden, second to Huet of Mexico, and third to Soos-Ruszka of Hungary.

DEMONSTRATION OF AMERICAN FOOTBALL—EASTERN TEAM

WESTERN TEAM

DEMONSTRATIONS—AMERICAN FOOTBALL AND LACROSSE

THE Protocol provides that the Olympic Organizing Committee may arrange demonstrations in two Sports not included in the programme of competitions :

- (1) A National Sport of the country in which the Games are held;
- (2) A Sport foreign to the organizing country.

THE FOOTBALL DEMONSTRATION

American Football was decided on as the National Sport to be demonstrated at the Xth Olympiad. It was chosen because it is a game played almost exclusively in the United States, and because it is primarily an amateur sport enjoying its greatest development and interest in the schools and colleges of this country.

The Universities of Yale, Harvard, and Princeton, in the East, and the Universities of California, Stanford, and Southern California, in the West, officially approved the plan of the Committee to organize two Football teams, one representing the Eastern institutions, and the other the Western, to meet at a demonstration game of Football on the evening of August 8.

In order not to interfere in any way with the athletic programme of the institutions involved, only graduating seniors at each university who had completed their football competition were selected for the teams.

The officials for the American Football Demonstration were :

East Team

T.A.D. Jones (former Yale coach), Chairman of Coaching Committee
Mal Stevens (Yale), Advisory Coach
Henry W. Clark (Harvard), Advisory Coach
Nelson Poe (Princeton), Advisory Coach
Adam Walsh (Yale), Line Coach
George Connors (Yale), Trainer
Harold F. Woodcock (Yale), Manager

West Team

Howard H. Jones (Southern California), Chairman of Coaching Committee
Glenn S. Warner (Stanford), Advisory Coach

The members of both teams were assembled in the Olympic Village several weeks before the opening of the Games and lived there under the same conditions as all other athletes.

The game was played as nearly as possible under the same conditions as the regulation game of American Intercollegiate Football. The massed Olympic bands and the Olympic Chorus formed a large white block in the seats at one side of the Stadium similar to the "rooting" section which has become a tradition of American Football, and the songs of the institutions represented were played and sung. Between halves the Olympic Band staged a musical marching spectacle on the field, coupled with massed singing by the Chorus.

The game itself was a remarkably fine exhibition of American Football. Individual players were in splendid condition and teamwork was of a calibre hardly to be expected in midsummer from players chosen from different colleges.

Marked offensive superiority was shown by the Western team in the first half, and only the stalwart defensive play of the Easterners, who staved off threatened scores three times, kept the teams on an even basis at half time. The half ended in spectacular fashion when the Eastern team, which had been on the defensive the entire first two periods, suddenly rallied and a long pass from Taylor to Crickard was completed just as the gun sounded, only a spectacular tackle by Rintala of the Western team preventing a touchdown for the East.

The second half of the game progressed without serious threat by either team until, early in the fourth quarter, the Eastern team secured the ball in Western territory and Mays attempted a goal from the field. The kick was short and bounced around on the Western 10-yard line where two of the defensive players touched it momentarily, making it a free ball. Burton Strange, of the Eastern team, swooped down on the ball, caught it on the bounce, and carried it across the goal line for the first touchdown of the contest. Goal was missed, leaving the score, East 6, West 0.

With only a few minutes left to play, the Western team pulled itself together, and headed by Gaius Shaver, one of the country's greatest football players, commenced a terrific attack on the Eastern line. Taking the ball on their own 35-yard line, with Shaver carrying the ball on practically every play, the Westerners plunged straight down the field, climaxing their drive with a dashing run by Shaver which carried the ball from the East's 23-yard line to the 4-yard mark, where he was forced out of bounds.

Here the East staged another spectacular stand, their fourth of the game inside the 5-yard line. Shaver made two yards on the first play and approached within a foot of the goal line on the second. Shaver's third plunge made a bare six inches and the great crowd had vision of another successful stand by the East, but on the fourth play Shaver dived head first across the line for a touchdown and Kirwan kicked the goal that won the game by the score of West 7, East 6.

It was a spectacular contest with fine individual and team play, a wide variety of running plays, and a reasonably successful forward passing attack. It could hardly have been a better demonstration of the American game.

The foreign athletes and press representatives were interested in the game but bewildered by its complexity. The consensus of foreign opinion was that American Football is a hard, bruising physical combat with a little too much emphasis on complicated technique. Most of the visitors commented chiefly on the great amount of time out and the numerous substitutions.

The lineups for the American Football Demonstration were :

	West (7)	East (6)
Right End	Arbelbide	Barres
Right Tackle	Ehrhorn	Hall
Right Guard	Hulen	Rotan
Center	Williamson	Betner
Quarterback	Watkins	White
Right Half	Clark	Taylor
Fullback	Shaver	Schereschewsky

The substitutions for the West were : Hand for Heiser, Neil for Stone, Rintala for Watkins, Dawson for Hulen, Hammack for Clark, Kirwan for Watkins, DiResta for Arbelbide, Hand for Hall, and Medanich for Williamson.

The substitutions for the East were : Gahagan for Bouscaren, Todd for Taylor, Crickard for Mays, Strange for Myerson, Yeckley for Hall, Wister for Barres, Zundel for Betner, Flygare for Wister, Madden for Schereschewsky, Mays for Crickard, Sandburg for White.

Score by Quarters
West	0	0	0	7	7
East	0	0	0	6	6

Touchdowns scored : Strange (East), Shaver (West). Goal after touchdown : Kirwan (West).

Field officials for the Football Demonstration were :

Herb Dana, Referee	Horace Gillette, Field Judge
Ed Cochran, Umpire	Bruce Kirkpatrick, Head Linesman

THE LACROSSE DEMONSTRATION

Lacrosse was chosen as the demonstration of a sport foreign to the organizing country. Although Lacrosse is played in the Eastern United States, it is little known to the western section in which the Games were held. The Committee wished to take advantage of the opportunity to demonstrate this interesting game to the people of the community as well as to the many foreign visitors unfamiliar with it. Mr. Charles L. Ornstein and Mr. Lewis Jay Korn, representing the American Lacrosse Associations, undertook the task of organizing the demonstration. The Lacrosse Team of Johns Hopkins University was chosen to represent the United States and an all-star team was chosen to represent Canada.

The officials for the Lacrosse Demonstration were :

William Roe Kahl, Team Manager	A. E. Lyon, President
Ray Van Orman, Coach	Dan McKenzie, Coach

The teams were assembled in the Olympic Village and lived there under the same conditions as all other athletes.

Three games of Lacrosse were played, on the afternoons of August 7, 9, and 12, respectively. The games were all well contested, any individual superiority possessed by the Canadians being offset by the cohesion of the American squad, who had played together as a team throughout the season. The Americans captured the opening contest, which was played before approximately 75,000 spectators on Sunday, the day of the historic Marathon. The score of the first game was 5 to 3.

Canada's aggressive players reversed the decision in the second game, which was the most fiercely contested of the series. The score was tied at 4 all just a moment before the end of the contest, when, with a supreme effort, Canada shot the deciding goal.

The deciding game of the series was played before a large audience. The second half had to be shortened to fifteen minutes in order to permit the Canadian team to catch their home steamer, which was held more than an hour after sailing time, for their accommodation. The Americans showed notable skill and teamwork and were victorious 7 to 4, thus winning the series two games to one, with a total score of 16 goals to 12.

All participants in the Football and Lacrosse Demonstrations were awarded diplomas and commemorative medals.

WHERE OLYMPIC ART COMPETITIONS AND EXHIBITION WERE HELD

ART COMPETITIONS AND EXHIBITION

DURING the era of the modern Olympiads it has been natural for the Sports phases of the Games to become emphasized in the public mind. However, in the revival of the modern Games the founders of the new movement instituted competitions in the Arts alongside of the Sports, just as they were associated in the ancient Grecian festivals. It has been more difficult to forward the Art competitions, but the Olympic organizations have not failed to recognize their responsibility and to give full weight to the value of preserving and encouraging the cultural side of the Games.

With this responsibility in mind, the Organizing Committee gave early attention to the organization of the Art Competitions, this item being the first definitely provided for in the budget, almost three years before the celebration of the Games. The next step was the appointment of General Charles H. Sherrill, member of the International Olympic Committee for the United States and a recognized leader in the advancement of the Olympic Arts, as chairman of the special committee to undertake the organization of this important activity of the Games of the Xth Olympiad. In formulating plans, it was decided to follow the example of previous Olympiads and include an Exhibition of Art in connection with the prescribed Art Competitions.

The American Federation of Arts in Washington was consulted by General Sherrill, and Mr. Homer Saint-Gaudens, Director of the Art Department of the Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, was requested to make an estimate of the probable cost of the Art Competitions and Exhibition. Mr. Saint-Gaudens had for a number of years assembled international exhibitions of paintings at the Carnegie Institute, and was therefore especially competent to make such an estimate. The amount he named was approved by the Organizing Committee and was placed in the hands of the American Federation of Arts, this national organization having consented to assume the responsibility.

GENERAL CHARLES H. SHERRILL
CHAIRMAN OF FINE ARTS COMMITTEE

The work of assembling the American exhibits was assigned to Miss Leila Mechlin, Secretary of the American Federation of Arts, and the organizing of the European exhibits was entrusted to Mr. Guillaume Lerolle, the foreign representative of the Carnegie Institute. The Olympic Committees of the various European nations in every instance assumed the responsibility of assembling their own exhibits, but a certain allowance was made to each for the cost of transportation, insurance, and other expenses, and arrangements for forwarding and returning the exhibits were made by or through Mr. Lerolle.

According to the original agreement, the American Federation of Arts was to be responsible solely for the American Section and for the general supervision of the Exhibit, but owing to the appointment of General Sherrill as Ambassador to Turkey early in 1932, and his immediate departure for his post, the entire management of the Competitions and Exhibition was delegated to Miss Mechlin, representing the American Federation of Arts.

MISS LEILA MECHLIN, GENERAL DIRECTOR

The American Section was assembled chiefly through invitation, although all artists were invited to submit works to juries which met in New York and Los Angeles respectively. The American Fine Arts Committee appointed by General Sherrill, which served as a consulting body, consisted of the following:

WILLIAM ALANSON BRYAN, Director, Los Angeles Museum

A. CONGER GOODYEAR, Chairman, Committee of the Museum of Modern Art,
New York City

ROBERT B. HARSHE, Director, The Art Institute of Chicago

FREDERICK P. KEPPEL, President, Carnegie Corporation of New York City

LEILA MECHLIN, Secretary, American Federation of Arts, Washington, D. C.

EVERETT V. MEEKS, Dean, Yale University School of Fine Arts, New Haven, Connecticut

C. POWELL MINNIGERODE, Director, Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C.

ONE OF THE EXHIBITION GALLERIES

DUNCAN PHILLIPS, Director, Phillips Memorial Gallery, Washington, D. C.

PAUL J. SACHS, Assistant Director, Fogg Museum, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts

HOMER SAINT-GAUDENS, Director, Department of Fine Arts, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

MYRON C. TAYLOR, Trustee, Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City

FREDERIC ALLEN WHITING, President, American Federation of Arts, Washington, D. C.

For the most part the foreign countries forwarded their exhibits by steamship via the Panama Canal direct to Los Angeles. Through special arrangement with the United States Customs Bureau, all exhibits were entered either free of duty or in bond, and unpacked and repacked under customs supervision in the Los Angeles Museum, where the exhibits were shown.

In accordance with a general ruling covering transportation, all exhibits shown in an International Exhibition are sent by prepaid freight and returned by the carriers freight free. The foreign committees insured their respective exhibits in transit, but all exhibits were insured by the American Federation of Arts for the Organizing Committee from the time of arrival in Los Angeles until re-delivery, in the case of foreign exhibits, to the shippers for return, and in the case of the American exhibits, to the artists, owners, or lenders. The total amount of insurance placed was approximately $400,000.00.

The first European exhibits arrived in Los Angeles on May 15, 1932, and the last to be received arrived shortly after July 1. The exhibition opened simultaneously with the Games, on July 30, but continued until the end of August. The last exhibits were returned from Los Angeles October 1.

The Exhibition was held in the Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art, which stands in Exposition Park (Olympic Park), opposite and at no great distance from Olympic Stadium. It occupied the foyer of the Museum, the main rotunda and adjacent halls, the small rotunda, and fifteen galleries.

There were in all over 1100 exhibits, by artists of 31 nations. The countries represented were :

Argentine, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Guatemala, Holland, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Luxembourg, Mexico, Norway, Peru, Poland, Roumania, Salvador,

THE EXHIBITION OCCUPIED FIFTEEN GALLERIES

THERE WERE OVER ELEVEN HUNDRED EXHIBITS

THIRTY-ONE COUNTRIES PARTICIPATED IN THE COMPETITIONS AND EXHIBITION

GROUP OF MEMBERS OF ART COMPETITIONS JURY

Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Uruguay, Venezuela, and the United States.

The exhibits, consisting of paintings in oil and in water color, drawings, prints, architectural designs, models, sculpture in the round and in relief, medals, and a few examples of the decorative arts, glass, silver, and textiles, were so far as possible installed according to the nations from which they came. Special galleries were assigned to France, Great Britain, Sweden, Germany, Holland and the United States. Japan and South and Central American countries shared a gallery. Works by representatives of Latvia, Canada, Roumania, Italy, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Poland, Mexico, Belgium, Austria, Hungary and Switzerland, were grouped in one large well-lighted gallery.

The larger pieces of sculpture were placed in the main rotunda regardless of the nationality of the artists. In the foyer was set forth a comprehensive and retrospective collection of works by Dr. R. Tait McKenzie. The prints, which were segregated, occupied two galleries, the water colors and drawings two galleries, the architectural works one very large gallery one hundred and fifty feet long with double screens running through the center, and the decorative textiles occupied one gallery.

To be entered for honors in the competitions, works were required to be (a) by living artists, (b) produced during the IXth Olympiad, that is, since January 1, 1928, (c) related to Sport, and (d) approved by the National Olympic Committee of the nation under which the artist claimed citizenship. Works not conforming to these conditions were entered hors contours as amplifying exhibits, and were invited by the Chairman of the Fine Arts Committee, General Sherrill, or, under his authorization, by Miss Mechlin, for the American Section, and by Mr. Lerolle for European countries not otherwise represented. A total of 540 contestants represented 24 countries in the competitions.

The International Juries of Award met at the Museum the week before the official opening and their decisions were announced immediately thereafter. These Juries were constituted as follows:

The medals of award were distributed while the Exhibition was in progress, through the General Director of Art and the heads of the Olympic Committees. The Diplomas were issued later and were sent directly to the Olympic Committee of each country for distribution. Only those receiving first, second, and third awards received medals and diplomas, diplomas only being issued to those receiving honorable mention.

In addition to the competitions in Painting, Sculpture, Architecture and the Graphic Arts, there were competitions in Literature and Music. Judges for these competitions were appointed by General Sherrill, but the direction of the competitions was left in the hands of the General Director of Art. The decisions were rendered and the awards announced during the period of the Games.

The Juries for the Literature and Music competitions were as follows:

All the awards in the Art Competitions were ceremoniously announced in Olympic Stadium in precisely the same manner as were the winners in the Sports Competitions, and an announcement of the Exhibition was printed on all programmes for the Games.

Two hundred posters, using as an illustration Hunt Diederich's "Polo Player," were issued by the Art Committee and placed in libraries, branch libraries, universities, schools, hotels and other places where people congregated, throughout the city of Los Angeles.

The attendance at the Exhibition was by actual count over 384,000. This attendance would have been greatly augmented had it been possible to keep the Museum open in the afternoons after the conclusion of the Games, and on Sunday mornings.

On the Thursday preceding the official opening of the Games and of the Exhibition, a private view was held for the heads of the National and International Olympic Committees, the Organizing Committee, and the Consuls of the various nations represented.

It should be noted that the Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art not only hospitably gave space to the Exhibition but placed members of its staff at the disposal of the General Director, all of whom rendered cheerful and valuable co-operation.

An illustrated catalogue of approximately a hundred pages was printed, in an edition of six thousand, and complimentary copies sent to each exhibitor, to the head of every Olympic Committee, National and International, and to those making loans and to museums, etc. This catalogue was also sold at the Exhibition.

The following was the distribution of awards by Nations in the Art Competitions and Exhibition :

VICTORY CEREMONIES

AT PREVIOUS celebrations of the Games it had been customary to hold the flag-raising ceremony in the main stadium at the conclusion of each Final event, regardless of where the event might have been contested and without the winning athletes necessarily being present at the ceremony. All prize awards had been postponed until the Closing Ceremony, when they were given to the victors.

This plan had two serious objections. The absence of the winning athlete at the flag ceremony deprived it of color and personality, and by the time of the Closing Ceremony many of the competitors had departed and their medals had to be entrusted to officials of their country for delivery.

It seemed quite clear that it would be advantageous to combine the two ceremonies into one. A plan was therefore worked out, with the approval of the International Olympic Committee, by which the presentation of the medals to the victorious athletes and the flag-raising ceremony were merged in one formal event.

After each event held in Olympic Stadium, the winners of the first three places were brought to a pedestal facing the Official Tribune, the victor in the center on a platform raised slightly higher than the second and third place winners, who occupied positions at his side corresponding exactly to the flag locations above the scoreboard.

All present were requested to rise and face the Victory flags, and as soon as

DR. THEODOR LEWALD (RIGHT), PRESIDENT OF THE GERMAN OLYMPIC COMMITTEE, ACCEPTS THE AWARD OF MERIT FOR ALPINISM FROM COUNT DE BAILLET-LATOUR IN BEHALF OF FRANZ AND TONI SCHMID, GERMANY, WHO ACCOMPLISHED THE FEAT OF CLIMBING THE MATTERHORN FROM THE NORTH SIDE FOR THE FIRST TIME

all was quiet the announcement, “Cérémonie Olympique Protocolaire — Olympic Victory Ceremony,” was made, and the official results of the event given.

After the announcement the band played the national anthem of the country of the winner, the flags of the countries winning first, second and third places were raised simultaneously, and the results were displayed on the face of the scoreboard. At the close of the national anthem, the President of the International Olympic Committee, accompanied by two others of his own choosing, made the actual presentation of the medals to the victors.

In the case of events held outside Olympic Stadium, the Victory award ceremonies were held in the main Stadium on the day following the completion of the event, the awards taking place just previous to the starting of the afternoon programme. In certain cases, such as Swimming, Rowing, Shooting, and Equestrian Sports, which came late in the second week of the Games, the awards in all events were made during the Closing Ceremony.

This procedure necessitated a rather complicated system of checking results and medals in order that no mistakes should be made. A special form was developed which was printed in triplicate, and when the Medal Department was officially notified of the results of an event, the names of the winners of the first three places were immediately filled in. One copy was attached to a gold, silver, or bronze medal, depending upon the place won, and one copy was retained by the Medal Department for its records. The third copy of the form was used in the case of winners of events outside the Olympic Stadium and was turned over to the manager of the team whose athlete was victorious, through the Sports Technical Department at the Olympic Village. This form notified the athlete to appear at Olympic Stadium the following day at a specified hour, to participate in the Victory Ceremony and receive his medal. In any case where the victorious athlete was not present at the Stadium for the Victory Ceremony, his medal was given to the manager of his team, and a notation was entered on the form retained by the Sports Technical Department telling of the disposition made of the medal.

The plan followed was immensely popular with athletes, officials, and public, and proved to be one of the most interesting features of each day's programme. By means of this system of awards, more than ninety per cent of the winners were actually present to receive their awards in Olympic Stadium and the Ceremony impressed itself on both athletes and audience.

THE LAST MARCH OF THE FLAGS

THE CLOSING CEREMONY

AN UNPRECEDENTED audience numbering nearly a hundred thousand persons swarmed into Olympic Stadium on the afternoon of Sunday, August 14, drawn by the irresistible attraction of the equestrian “Prix des Nations” Jumping event, the completion of awards of Victory medals, and, last but not least, the Closing Ceremony of the Games.

Spellbound, they witnessed the superb, rhythmic grace of horse and rider in the exhibition of Dressage; breathlessly, they leaned forward in their seats as the world’s finest military horsemen guided their spirited mounts over the sportiest course of jumps Olympic horses had ever faced. The tension over, the multitude voiced approval as bespangled horsemen, tanned sailors, stalwart oarsmen, Herculean boxers, graceful fencers, muscular swimmers and divers — the last of the Olympic champions of 1932 — received their medals in the colorful Victory Ceremonies.

It was a long, eventful afternoon. The sun, whose benign smile had not been dimmed by passing clouds during the entire sixteen days of the Games, was sinking slowly behind the hills of the Olympic Village in which the athletes had spent so many busy days and restful nights.

The last competition was over . . . the last record broken . . . the last triumphant victor rewarded . . . the last Nation honored by the raising of its flag to the Victory mast and by the respectful homage of the vast audience as its anthem filled the air. All good things must end and the Games of the Xth Olympiad were swiftly drawing to a close.

No one rose to go. The audience silently awaited the ceremony which would bring to an end this glorious experience.

Music broke the silence. The Olympic Band was playing. It was a stirring march reminiscent of the Parade of Nations on the Opening Day. Automatically all eyes turned again to the huge tunnel from which, two short weeks previously, had emerged the flower of the youth of forty nations come to celebrate the Games of the Xth Olympiad on the shores of the Pacific.

And, as the first martial notes sounded on the late afternoon air, there marched from the tunnel the same white-clad figure that had appeared on the Opening Day, proudly bearing the banner of Greece, Mother of the Olympic Games. Then, in order, came the flags and banners of the participating nations exactly as on the Opening Day.

But no. There is a difference. The Stadium, the music, the flags, the banners, all were there — the Nations on parade — but the pulsating life-blood of the Games, the athletes, was gone.

THE MARCH-OUT OF THE FLAGS

Gone were the ruddy cheeked, long-striding, colorfully garbed youths who had marched so hopefully down the sun-swept straightaway two weeks before. And gone the roaring cheers that greeted them.

Who knows what ghostly figures of past Olympic greatness may have swung unseen in shadowy files behind the lonely flag of Greece? Coroebus, the first Olympic victor, Alcibiades, the patriot, Diagoras and his three sons, all victors in the Games, Cimon the unbeaten charioteer with his great team which was buried with him, Milo of Croton, greatest of wrestlers, Pheidippides, who gasped the story of Grecian triumph on the Plains of Marathon with his dying breath, or Spiridion Loues, victor of the first Marathon of modern times. Who knows?

The ghostly procession swung silently, relentlessly, around the vast oval, treading the very footprints of the Opening Day . . . a pageant of purposeful Olympic participation. Athletes may come and athletes may go — but the Games go on forever.

A thousand memories flash by as the lonely flag bearers swing into position facing the Tribune of Honor. The long shadow that covers the field is climbing slowly up the face of the Peristyle. Down in the shadow the President of the International Olympic Committee, Count de Baillet-Latour, is calling upon the Youth of every country to assemble in four years at Berlin, there to celebrate the Games of the XIth Olympiad.

As his words, in sonorous French, are carried to the silent assemblage, the great five-ringed Olympic flag flutters slowly down the pole to be tenderly taken in hand by white-clad guards. High up on the scoreboard, the dying rays of the sun glistening in the brazen throats of their trumpets, a group of musicians sound a fanfare. A distant cannon roars a farewell salute.

Down on the field, shadowy figures in the dusk, two others have joined the President of the International Olympic Committee on the rostrum. The Secretary of the Dutch Olympic Committee, Major G. van Rossem, is presenting the Olympic flag that was entrusted to the City of Amsterdam at the Games of the IXth Olympiad in 1928.

Count de Baillet-Latour thanks him on behalf of the Committee and in turn places it in the care of the Honorable John C. Porter, Mayor of the city of Los Angeles, to be kept until the Games of Berlin, four years hence.

The trumpets high up on the Peristyle are sounding again. The plaintive strains of "Aloha," the sad farewell of the western seas, are tugging at the heart-strings of the assemblage. The flag-bearers on the field move slowly toward the tunnel. The banners, once proudly erect, droop dejectedly.

The great Chorus has taken up the plaintive melody of the Islands —
 “Aloha — Farewell to thee,” —

The audience, deeply touched, seeks emotional relief by joining in — “Farewell to thee.”

Standards and standard bearers, flags and flag bearers, are wending their mournful way from the fast-gathering dusk into the darkness of the tunnel, the great five-ringed Olympic flag bringing up the rear of the procession.

“One fond embrace before we now do part — until we meet again” — the song dies away with a quavering note.

High up on the Peristyle the trumpets are sobbing the poignant melody of “Taps.” Damp eyes swing to the East. On the scoreboard, —

“ I Olympiad, Athens, 1896 — X Olympiad, Los Angeles, 1932 — XI Olympiad, Berlin, 1936 ” —

with the flags of Greece, the United States, and Germany on the Victory poles, Olympic History and Olympic Prophecy!

As the last plaintive notes of “Taps” fade away in a long-drawn-out sigh, the flame of the Torch dies slowly away into the great bronze bowl.

“ May the Olympic Torch Pursue Its Way Through the Ages ” — an unseen hand is slowly writing on the scoreboard. The Ghost Parade is gone. The music has ceased. The Olympic Torch is out. Darkness settles over the great structure. Zeus in his Golden chariot, the sun, has disappeared beyond the hills — returned to Mount Olympus. The multitude of saddened spectators sit in silence, gazing with misty eyes at the great bronze bowl whose flame is now a memory.

They tip-toe to the tunnels.

The Games of the Xth Olympiad have passed into history.

FINANCE

THE sources of income for financing the Games of the Xth Olympiad were the State Olympiad Bond issue receipts, income from the sale of tickets of admission, receipts from limited concession privileges, Olympic Village income, bank interest, and the receipts from salvage and sales of equipment following the Games.

Two days after the close of the Games, the Organizing Committee was happy to be able to announce publicly that the funds of the Committee would permit of the retirement of the Olympiad Bonds. This announcement was given wide publicity, and as a consequence the erroneous thought developed in some quarters that there had been a financial profit from the Games.

It must be remembered that the total income from the Games does not have charged against it the cost of any stadium or other facilities used in the Games which existed prior to the organization of the Games and for the cost of which the Games did not have to pay. In the organic provisions for the Olympic Games, it is not possible that they shall ever be a business proposition where the word profit could properly be applied.

If the Games were awarded to a city possessing no facilities whatsoever, and which, consequently, was compelled to provide all of these facilities initially for the Games, it would be impossible, as a practical proposition, to receive an income sufficient to offset the cost even if all of the events of the Games were patronized to the capacity of the facilities. It has always been recognized, therefore, that a city does not accept the award of the Games as a business proposition.

It is recognized, of course, that successful Games bring many benefits to a community, but only of the same general nature and in the same proportion as the world is benefited by a movement such as modern Olympism.

In a practical sense the Olympic city, while there may be a difference between cost and income, finds this difference reconciled in the form of stadiums and other facilities that will continue to serve the community after the Games are over.

Taking full account of the above, it can properly be said that the Games of the Xth Olympiad were a success from a financial standpoint, as well as in all other respects.

From the very beginning all books and records of accounts, receipts, and disbursements, were kept and audited by Price, Waterhouse & Co.

Monthly reports of receipts, and of each and every disbursement, were rendered in detail to the Organizing Committee and to the California Olympiad Commission up to the time of the Games. A complete financial report, embodying copies of the monthly reports, has been filed annually with the Controller of the State of California and made of public record.

Following the Games, the final and all-inclusive audit report was started, and at the time of the preparation of this chronicle the report is complete except for a few accounts still open. When the accounts are finally closed this audit report will be filed with the Organizing Committee and with the California Olympiad Commission, and will be made of public record in the office of the Controller of the State of California.

SALVAGE

In some instances the arrangement for the use of facilities provided for leaving all or part of the installations in place after the Games. In other cases, the privilege of removal of installations was reserved for the Management of the Games.

Immediately following the Games, the Engineering and Construction departments systematically salvaged to the highest bidders such materials as were removable under the arrangements that had been made.

In the case of the Olympic Village, obviously the biggest part of the salvaging task, greater time was consumed in order to effect a methodical and constructive disposition of all equipment and materials.

Because of the careful, precise, and economical formulas established in the design, construction, and equipment of the Village, the record of salvage recovery surpassed reasonable expectations. All salvaging operations and sales of equipment were completed prior to January 1, 1933.

CONCLUSION OF BUSINESS

In the post-Games period, conjointly with salvaging, final audit reports, and the consummation as quickly as possible of all phases of the business operations of the Committee, careful effort was made to preserve suitable exhibits for the Museum of the International Olympic Committee at Lausanne and the Museum in Los Angeles.

Provisions have been made for the preservation of the complete office records of the Organizing Committee for a fixed period of years.

When the work was first started some years ago it became the policy of all Departments to standardize operations wherever possible and to keep a record of same available in the furtherance of the Olympic movement.

Note - IN THE preparation of this book it has been the intent to tell the story of the Games of the Xth Olympiad in pictures as well as in type. The photographic story of the Games is as complete as it has been possible to make it.

At page 778 is a series of four reproductions of tablets in bronze.

Lists of personnel of Olympic Committees and other official groups, and of individuals, appearing in this book, are prepared as of the period of the Games of the Xth Olympiad and purposely do not include subsequent changes. All names and information pertaining to these are presented in conformity with material furnished the Organizing Committee.

Notes on the digitized version of the Official Report of the Games of the X Olympiad, Los Angeles, 1932

The digital version of the Official Report of the Games of the X Olympiad was created with the intention of producing the closest possible replica of the original printed document. These technical notes are intended to describe the differences between the digital and printed documents and the technical details of the digital document.

The original document

The original paper version of the 1932 Official Report has dimensions of 9 x 12 ¼" (23cm x 31cm). The print and graphic images on the front cover are impressed into the surface. The words "Xth Olympiad, Los Angeles, 1932" are printed at the top of the spine, framed by the same banding that appears on the front cover. The words "Official Report" appear at the bottom of the spine, framed with graphic banding. The back cover is blank and the same color as the front cover.

The book is 814 pages, plus a one-page index. The front and back matter of the book contain several blank pages. The first and last pages inside the cover are blank heavy bond paper in the same color as the cover. There is a half-title page preceding the illustration leaf and title page, with the words "Xth Olympiad, Los Angeles." Photographic illustrations precede the beginning of each chapter as separate, unnumbered leaves. The fonts used in the digital version book for text, photograph captions and chapter headings are Minion Regular and such system fonts as best approximate the original fonts.

Special features of the digital version:

- * The back cover and the binding are not included in the digital version.
- * Blank pages at the front and back of the book are not represented in the digital version.
- * Illustrations or photos in landscape format were rotated from vertical to horizontal to make viewing easier.
- * The digital version includes a bookmark list which functions as a hyperlinked table of contents. Selecting a topic heading will take you to the corresponding section in the document.
- * The final page of the document is an original index. The index entries also are hyperlinked. Selecting a topic in this index will take you to the corresponding section in the document.
