EXPLANATORY NOTE

BIOGRAPHIES are shown for Department employees of grade GS-11 (General Schedule) and above.

In the Foreign Service groups, biographies are included for Ambassadors, Ministers, all Foreign Service officers, all Foreign Service Reserve officers, all Foreign Service Staff officers of class nine and above, and certain Foreign Service Staff officers in classes ten, eleven, and twelve.

Incomplete biographic information is shown in cases where biographic data was not submitted.

Additional information concerning the Foreign Service of the United States may be found in the quarterly Foreign Service List, published by the Department of State and sold by the Superintendent of Documents. All American diplomatic and consular officers are listed in that publication at their respective posts; the January issue, each year, contains a description of the consular districts, the tariff of Foreign Service fees, and a table of retired Foreign Service officers receiving annuities.

Assignments at international conferences for all personnel of the Department of State and other Government agencies are included in the publication, Participation of the United States Government in International Conferences, issued annually by the Department of State.

¹ The title "Secretary of State" dates from September 15, 1789. From July 27 to September 15, 1789, this officer was entitled "Secretary for the Department of Foreign Affairs"; prior thereto, "Secretary to the United States of America for the Department of Foreign Affairs." The Secretary of State is not appointed for a fixed term and does not necessarily go out of office with the President who appointed him. Although he tenders his resignation at the time of a change in administration, he usually remains formally at the head of the Department until his successor assumes the duties of the office.

Minister plenipotentiary to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce with the Netherlands: commissioned December 29, 1780; unsuccessful at that time; granted additional powers August 16, 1781; signed treaty of commerce at The Hague October 8, 1782; returned to Paris October 26, 1782; mission terminated February 24, 1788.

Joint commissioner, with Benjamin Franklin, John Jay, and Henry Laurens,² to negotiate a treaty of peace with Great Britain: previous commission of September 29, 1779, renewed June 15, 1781; signed preliminary articles November 30, 1782, at Paris; signed definitive treaty September 3, 1783, at Paris.

Joint minister plenipotentiary, with Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, to negotiate treaties of amity and commerce with European countries and the Barbary States: commissioned May 12, 1784; signed treaty with Prussia August 5, 1785, at London; signed treaty with Morocco January 25, 1787, at London; mission terminated February 24, 1788.

Minister plenipotentiary to Great Britain: elected February 24, 1785; recalled, at his own request, by a resolution of Congress dated October 5, 1787, and effective February 24, 1788; took leave of the King February 20, 1788; no successor until Thomas Pinckney was appointed in 1792.³

(Adams served simultaneously under his commissions to Great Britain, the Netherlands, other European countries, and the Barbary States.)

Thomas Barclay, of Pennsylvania

Vice consul in France: elected June 26, 1781, to act until the arrival of the consul;⁴ commissioned July 10, 1781.

Consul in France: elected October 5, 1781.

Commissioner "with full power and authority to liquidate and finally to settle the accounts of all the servants of the United States, who have been intrusted with the expenditure of publick money in Europe, and all other accounts of the United States in Europe": elected November 18, 1782.

Agent of John Adams and Thomas Jefferson,⁵ to negotiate a treaty with Morocco: appointed October 5, 1785, by Adams and October 11, 1785, by Jefferson; accompanied by Colonel Franks, as secretary.⁶ The text of the treaty was delivered to him by the Moroccan authorities on the "first day of the blessed month of Ramadan" (June 28, 1786) and was signed by John Adams January 25, 1787, at London and by Thomas Jefferson January 1, 1787, at Paris.

William Carmichael, of Maryland

Assistant to Silas Deane, secret agent of Congress at Paris, spring of 1776; went to Berlin in American interests, fall of 1776.

Secretary to commissioners in France: commissioned November 28, 1777, but did not act in this capacity; returned to the United States in May 1778.

Secretary to John Jay, minister plenipotentiary to negotiate a treaty of amity, commerce, and alliance with the court of Spain: elected September 28, 1779.

Chargé d'affaires ad interim in Spain: assumed office in May 1782;⁷ formally received February 20, 1783; presented to the King August 23, 1783; commissioned as chargé d'affaires April 20, 1790.

Francis Dana, of Massachusetts

Secretary to John Adams, minister plenipotentiary to negotiate treaties of peace and commerce with Great Britain: elected September 28, 1779; reached Paris February 9, 1780.

¹ Unless otherwise noted, these agents were elected, appointed, or commissioned by the Continental Congress. In addition to the secret agents included in this table the following persons, among others, also acted as secret correspondents of the Continental Congress: Jonathan Loring Austin, Edward Bancroft, William Bingham, William Bollan, William Hodge, William Lee, Thomas Morris, and Thomas Story. Commercial agents are not included in this list.

² Thomas Jefferson was also appointed but did not go to Paris on this mission.

⁴ William Palfrey was appointed and commissioned consul in France December 9, 1780, but was lost at sea while crossing the Atlantic.

⁵ Ministers plenipotentiary to negotiate treaties with foreign countries; authorized by Congress, March 11, 1785, to appoint agents to represent them.

⁶ Probably David S. Franks, of the Revolutionary Army.
