This beautiful, Jugend-classicist symphony house in the centre of Tallinn is the city's largest multi-purpose concert hall. The approximately 500m² room can easily be transformed into an ideal venue for conferences, fashion shows, intimate chamber events, gala events or pop concerts. It regularly hosts international conferences, song contests, anniversaries, graduation festivities, seminars and presentations. The Concert Hall's large foyers can also be used as an art exhibition area.

The Teachers' House of Tallinn is located at the heart of Tallinn's Old Town – Town Hall Square. This rather complex collection of buildings was first mentioned in records in 1333, and in 1766 was transferred to the ownership of Russian army, who used it as an officers' club and casino. The current division of rooms dates back to the 1830s. The blend of modern technological solutions and unique historical interior of the Teachers' House makes it a perfect venue for a successful event. It has rooms suitable for conferences, gala dinners, smaller seminars and receptions.

Tallinn's Town Hall, one of the most famed symbols of the city, is recognised throughout Europe as a unique architectural treasure. Established in the 13th Century, the building acquired its present appearance in 1404, and is the only surviving Gothic Town Hall in Northern Europe. Its 14th- 15th-century carved benches and 16th-century murals are rare works of art. As the city government's ceremonial building, the Town Hall is used for official receptions and concerts. It can accommodate up to 100 persons.

Saku Manor is located in the middle of Saku town and dates back to 1622. The manor house itself was constructed in 1820 and is among the best examples of classicist architecture in Estonia. It is thought that the building was designed by one of the most famous architects of that period - Carlo Rossi. On 1 November 2002, the renewed Saku Manor was opened as a recreational and conference center. Saku Manor is a great venue for various parties and celebrations. The Ball Room is a splendid example of classicist style and has a capacity of up to 120 persons.

Recipes passed down from our grandmothers and our grandmothers' grandmothers are what make this authentic restaurant so popular with locals and tourists alike. All our meals are prepared with fresh products from local farms and are accompanied by a variety of Estonian drinks. Menu highlights include the restaurant's homemade cheese and the famous Estonian blood sausage. Many people come here to enjoy the lively atmosphere, meet friends, and see the occasional music performance.

Sometimes you just want a good meal. That's why we created Leib, a restaurant specialising in casual, soulful dining. We love simple food made from the finest, freshest, natural and local ingredients. The result, coupled with our handmade bread and enjoyed on the city's most stunning terrace, is a true gastronomic delight. Both chefs are dedicated 'foodies', and one of us is always on hand in the restaurant to make sure our diners' experience is everything we would want for ourselves.
