RESPONSIBILITY to the FUTURE

business peace sustainability

26-28 June 2008, Mumbai, India

An Initiative for Action

Strategic Foresight Group is pleased to convene an action initiative on business, peace and sustainability. The first step is to convene an international conference on Responsibility to the Future: Business, Peace, Sustainability in Mumbai, India, on 26-28 June 2008. It aims to bring together some of the leading intellectuals and innovators in the world to understand emerging problems facing humanity, conceptualise response strategies, develop approaches to measure economic benefits of peace for companies, and construct mechanisms to engage business leaders in efforts to build sustainable peace.

The conference will derive from ground-breaking research by Strategic Foresight Group in emerging issues for the next decade and scientific examination of relationship between business, development and peace. With such an intellectual foundation, the conference will focus on three streams of future economy for innovative problem-solving initiatives: (1) Innovation in knowledge economy - education media, ICT technologies for peace (2) Environmental challenges for peace (3) Responsible Investments. With a view to respond to emerging challenges in the context of these three streams, the conference will (1) launch practical collaborative initiatives where India plays an important partnership role and (2) identify an agenda for further research and multi-stakeholder dialogues at the global level.

Thus, the conference aims to contribute to thought leadership in the global space while initiating discussions on practical initiatives in the specific Indian collaborative space. It sees peace and sustainability as actionable objectives in the context of economic progress and not merely lofty ideals. The conference is thus a result-oriented exercise - and not merely an event.

Theme Paper

Strategic Foresight Group will prepare a theme paper, with advice from Conference Chair, which will be circulated at the event. The paper will explore linkages between business, peace and sustainability identifying approaches to measure economic benefits to companies from enhanced peace. It is expected that the paper will be enriched by discussion at the conference and developed into a research report.

Participants

The organisers will invite thought leaders known for their commitment to peace and sustainability and business leaders who are curious about these issues and wish to explore a constructive engagement. It will be a blend of:

- Innovative business leaders from different parts of the world;
- Directors of peace research institutes;
- Authors and film-makers on the subject;
- Leading economists, technology experts and climate experts;
- Leaders of banking, finance and insurance companies;
- Statesmen/women.

Outcome

- A cluster of collaborative practical initiatives for responsibility to future on peace and sustainability and proposals for policy research and multi-stakeholder dialogues.
- A conference report on some of the deep insights gathered from presentations at the conference aimed at business community worldwide and a separate research report on approaches to measure economic benefits of peace.
- An audio-visual film based on background research, parts of speeches, insights from proceedings and interviews at the conference.
- A website where discussions at the conference along with podcasts, photographs and reports on sessions will be available, along with networking space for interested members of business, civil society groups and individuals.
- Projects on policy research to find workable solutions to the future problems of peace and sustainability.

Strategic Foresight Group

Strategic Foresight Group (SFG) is a think tank based in India with global reach. It develops analytical tools on the future of countries, regions and sectors to enable decision makers to make choices in uncertain times. It is particularly known for its 'cost of conflict' methodology, which measures comprehensive costs of conflict as a way of building public awareness for peace. It advises governments and private sector clients in three continents on global and security scenarios. It structures and facilitates dialogues between stakeholders in significant conflicts.

SFG has played a vital role in finding common ground between the Western and Islamic countries in collaboration with the Alliance of Liberals and Democrats in the European Parliament and the League of Arab States. Several Heads of Government, First Ladies, Ministers of Foreign Affairs, leaders of Parliamentary groups, and leading scholars have participated in its meetings and consultations. The research findings and policy proposals of Strategic Foresight Group have been discussed in significant forums such as the UK House of Commons, Indian Parliament, World Economic Forum meetings in Davos, Asia and the Middle East, Oxford University, Geneva Security Forum, Bibliotheca Alexandrina, the Brookings Institution, BBC World Television, CNN, among others. It has also been covered by leading newspapers around the world, particularly including the Financial Times, International Herald Tribune, New York Times, major newspapers in the Middle East, and almost all major newspapers in India and the neighbouring countries in South Asia.

Steve Killelea

Steve Killelea is a leading Australia IT entrepreneur and philanthropist. He is the chairman and founder of Integrated Research, an international technology company listed on the Australia Stock Exchange that has customers in over 50 countries. The company has won Australian Exporter of the year along with many other awards.

Steve was a board member of AIIA for 8 years. He has also sat on a number of private company boards as well as a number of influential government advisory boards including IIBAB, NICTA and the CSIRO. Steve founded a Venture Capital company known as Smarter Capital in 2001, which specializes in investments into the software industry.

In addition to his business activities Steve is active in the broader community, particularly in the area of philanthropy, and has founded his own charity, TCF, which specializes in funding projects in the Developing World. TCF is one of the larger private charities in Australia and one of the largest private overseas aid organizations in Australia.

He is also the founder of Global Peace Index, a new tool for measuring peacefulness of countries and identifying the drivers of peace. Developed in conjunction with the Economist Intelligence Unit, the launch of the Global Peace Index has sparked a debate in the media from all parts of the world. The Global Peace Index is now considered a benchmark for measuring the peacefulness of nations.

The UN Global Compact

Launched in 2000, the UN Global Compact brings business together with UN agencies, labour, civil society and governments to advance ten universal principles in the areas of human rights, labour, environment and anti-corruption. Through the power of collective action, the Global Compact seeks to mainstream these ten principles in business activities around the world and to catalyse actions in support of broader UN goals. With over 3,700 participating companies and hundreds of other stakeholders from more than 120 countries, it is the world's largest voluntary corporate citizenship initiative.

Strategic Partners and Registration

Participation at the conference is by invitation only without any registration fee. If you would like to join as a participant or explore strategic partnership with this project, please contact Ms Ilmas Futehally, Executive Director, Strategic Foresight Group
